By His Royal Highness the PRINCE of WALES, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in the Name and on the Behalf of His MAJESTY.

A PROCLAMATION,
For a General FAST.

GEORGE P. R.

WE, taking into Our most serious Consideration the just and necessary War in which His Majesty is engaged, and putting Our Trust in Almighty God, that He will graciously bless His Majesty's Arms, both by Sea and Land, have resolved, and do, in the Name and on the Behalf of His Majesty, and by and with the Advice of His Majesty's Privy Council, hereby command, That a Publick Day of Fasting and Humiliation be observed throughout those Parts of the United Kingdom called England and Ireland, on Wednesday the Twentieth Day of March next ensuing, that so both We and His Majesty's People may humble Ourselves before Almighty God, in order to obtain Pardon of Our Sins, and in the most devout and solemn Manner send up Our Prayers and Supplications to the Divine Majesty, for averting those heavy Judgments which Our manifold Provocations have most justly deserved; and for imploring His Blessing and Assistance on His Majesty's Arms for the Restoration of Peace, and Prosperity to His Majesty and His Dominions: And We do strictly charge and command, That the said Publick Fast be reverently and devoutly observed by all His Majesty's loving Subjects in England and Ireland, as they tender the Favour of Almighty God, and would avoid His Wrath and Indignation; and upon Pain of such Punishment as may be justly inflicted on all such as contemn and neglect the Performance of so religious and necessary a Duty: And for the better and more orderly solemnizing the same, We have given Directions to the Most Reverend the Archbishops, and the Right Reverend the Bishops of England and Ireland, to compose a Form of Prayer suitable to this Occasion, to be used in all Churches, Chapels, and Places of Publick Worship, and to take care that the same be timely dispersed throughout their respective Dioceses.

Downing-Street, February 6, 1811.

A DISPATCH, of which the following is an Extract, has been received at the Office of the Earl of Liverpool, addressed to his Lordship by Lieutenant-General Viscount Wellington, dated Cartaxo, 19th of January 1811.

SINCE the Enemy obtained Possession of the Bridge over the Guadiana at Merida, the Accounts of their Progress have been so various and contradictory, that I am not enabled to form an Opinion of their Designs or Numbers.

When General Mendizabel retired across the Guadiana, he threw a small Corps of about Three Thousand Infantry into Olivenza, which Place was but ill supplied with Provisions and Stores. A Body of Infantry, which at Times have been stated to be Four Thousand, and at others Seven Thousand, with about One Thousand Five Hundred Cavalry, have blockaded Olivenza.

There has been no Alteration in the Position of the Enemy's Troops in Front of this Army.

I imagine that General Claparede has not received the Orders from General Drouet to take up his Position upon Guarda, of which I reported to your Lordship in my last Dispatch that we had intercepted the Duplicate.

He attacked General Silveira with the Advanced Guard of his Division near Trancofo, at the Ponte d'Albade, on the 30th Ult. and obliged him to retire, with some Loss. Lieutenant Colonel M'Bean, of the 24th Regiment, was wounded in this Affair.

General Claparede attacked General Silveira again, with the Advanced Guard of his Division, at Villa du Ponte, on the 11th Instant, and obliged him to retire, but without material Loss, excepting that of Major Cookley, of the 24th Portuguese Regiment, who was unfortunately killed, and the Officer commanding the 1st Brigade of Portuguese Militia wounded.

General Bacellar, who commands in the North, has moved the Divisions commanded by General Miller and Colonel Wilson upon the Flank and Rear of the Enemy, which it is expected will check this Movement, and oblige him to fall back again towards the Frontier. A Part of Claparede's Division was still at Pinhel.

Downing-Street, February 9, 1811.

A DISPATCH, of which the following is a Copy, has been this Day received at the Earl of Liverpool's Office, addressed to his Lordship by Lieutenant-General Wiscourt Wellington, dated Cartaxo, 26th January 1811.

My Lord, Cartaxo, January 26, 1811.

THE Enemy has continued the Blockade of Olivenza, and obtained Possession of that Place either on the 22d or 23d Instant. Notwithstanding the positive Assertions that a large Body had crossed the Bridge of Merida on the 9th, it does not appear that the French have yet had any large Body on the Right of the Guadiana. They have a Train of Six Twenty-four Pounders, and other Ordnance of large Calibre, and a large Quantity of Stores and Carriages, on the Left of the Guadiana; but it is not yet considered decided that they propose to attack Badajoz.

I am concerned to have to report to your Lordship, that the Marquis de la Romana died in this Town on the 23d Instant, after a short Illness. His Talents, his Virtues, and his Patriotism, were well known to His Majesty's Government. In him the Spanish Army have lost their brightest Ornament; his Country their most upright Patriot; and the World the most strenuous and zealous Defender of the Cause in which we are engaged; and I shall always acknowledge with Gratitude the Assistance which I received from him, as well by his Operations as by his Counsel, since he had been joined with this Army.

Upon receiving Accounts of the Movements of the French Troops in Estremadura, of the Difficulties experienced in the Relief of Olivenza, and of the Possibility that Badajoz might be attacked, he ordered the Spanish Troops which had been joined to us, to march towards the Frontier, and they commenced their March on the 20th Instant.

General Mendizabel has since ordered them to halt on the Road.

Since I addressed your Lordship on the 19th Inst., I have received the detailed Accounts of General Silveira's Affairs with the Enemy in Upper Beira. In the Affair at the Ponte d'Albade on the 30th of December, which was the most serious, and in which the greatest Loss was sustained, the General attacked the French and was repulsed.

In the last Affair of the 11th Instant, the French attacked General Silveira at Villa de Pont, and he was obliged to retire upon Lamego. He was followed by the French Division, and was obliged to evacuate Lamego, and to retire across the Douro on the 13th Instant.

General Bacellar then took up a Position on the Pavia, on the Enemy's left Flank, while Colonel Wilson was upon their Rear at Castro Dairo, and General Silveira prevented them from crossing the Douro.

These Positions appear to have induced General Claparede to retire again, as I have heard, from another Channel, of his Arrival at Trancofo.

The Enemy have made no material Alteration in their Position in Front of this Army since I last addressed your Lordship. They appear still to entertain a great Jealousy of all our Movements on the Left of the Tagus, and they have recently removed some of the Boats which were in the Zezere. They detached a Body of Two Thousand Men from the Rear of their Army into Lower Beira, on the 22d Instant, apparently to escort a Courier towards the Frontier.

They drove our Piquets through the Town of Rio Mayor on the 19th Instant, with a strong Body of Cavalry and Infantry; but retired again immediately. It is reported that General Junot was wounded on this Occasion.

Our Light Detachments, under the Honourable Captain Cooks of the 16th Light Dragoons, and others, still continue their Operations with Success, and send in many Prisoners.

My last Accounts from Cadiz are of the 15th Instant.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

Copy of a Letter from Captain Rogers, of His Majesty's Ship the Kent, addressed to Admiral Sir Charles Cotton, Bart. Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels in the Mediterranean, and transmitted by the Admiral to John Wilson Croker, Esq.

S I R, Keut; off Palamos, Dec. 15, 1810.

JUST as I had closed my Letter to you of the 12th Instant, the Cambrian hove in Sight, which immediately determined me to attempt the Destruction of the Convoy at Palamos. I had great Reliance in Captain Fane's Knowledge of the Place, and as the Reinforcement the French had received in Catalonia gave me no Hope of Assistance from General O'Donnell, who had full Occupation for his Troops, I felt that I should be deficient in my Duty if I did not employ the Means in my Power with Energy, to effect the important Service of depriving Barcelona and the French Army of the Supplies which this Convoy would convey to them. I gave it, Sir, every Consideration, with the Anxiety natural to Responsibility, and the more I reflected the more my Mind was fortified with Hopes of Success.

I therefore formed my Plan, and Captain Fane did me the Favour to volunteer the Command of Three Hundred and Fifty Seamen, Two Hundred and Fifty Marines, and Two Field-Pieces, selected from the Ships under my Orders, and well appointed for this desirable Service. The Enemy's Vessels lay in the Mole, and consisted of a very fine new National Ketch, mounting Fourteen Guns, with Sixty Men, Two Xebecs of Three Guns each, and Thirty Men, and there were Eight Merchant Vessels under their Convoy, all laden with Provisions for Barcelona; they were protected by Two Twenty-four-Pounders, one in a Battery which stood high over the Mole, and the other with a Thirteen-Inch Mortar in a Battery on a very commanding Height; there were also, from the Information I received, about Two Hundred and Fifty Soldiers in the Town.

From light Winds it was near One o'Clock in the Afternoon of the 13th before the Ships could get far enough into the Bay to put the Men on shore, and they were soon after landed on the Beach in the finest Order under Cover of the Sparrowhawke and Minstrel Sloops, without Harm, the Enemy having posted themselves in the Town, supposing we should be injudicious enough to go into the Mole without dislodging them; soon after our Men moved forward to take the Town and Batteries in the Rear; the Enemy withdrew to a Windmill on a Hill, where they remained almost quiet Spectators of our People taking Possession of the Batteries and the Vessels in the Mole; the Mortar was spiked and the Cannon thrown down the Heights into the Sea; the Magazine blown up; the whole of the Vessels burnt and totally destroyed, save Two which were brought out; in short the Object had succeeded to Admiration, and at this Time with the Loss of no more than Four or Five Men from occasional skirmishing; but I am sorry to relate, that in withdrawing our Post from a Hill which we occupied to keep the Enemy in check until the Batteries and Vessels were destroyed, I fear that our People retired with some Disorder, which encouraged the Enemy, who had received a Reinforcement from St. Felice, to advance upon them, and, by some unhappy Fatality, instead of directing their Retreat to the Beach where the Cambrian, Sparrowhawke and Minstrel lay to cover their Embarkation, the brave but thoughtless and unfortunate Men came through the Town down to the Mole; the Enemy immediately occupied the Walls and Houses, from which they kept up a severe Fire upon the Boats crowded with Men, and dauntlessly fired upon and killed several who had been left on the Mole, and were endeavouring to swim to the Boats.

Nothing could exceed the good Conduct of Captain Pringle, of the Sparrowhawke, Captain Campbell, of the Minstrel, and Lieutenant Conolly, First of the Cambrian, (who commanded that Ship in the Absence of Captain Fane,) both in the landing and withdrawing the Men, and the Officers in the Launches with Carronades, and the Two Mortar Boats of the Cambrian; indeed the Officers and Men of all the Boats distinguished themselves beyond all Praise in going to the Mole to bring off the Men who had been left behind. In performing this arduous Service they suffered much, but I had the Satisfaction to perceive the Fire of their Carronades and Mortars upon the Enemy was very destructive.

I feel a Delicacy in noticing the Exertions and Gallantry of an Individual where most appear to have an equal Claim, but it is due to Mr. George Godfrey, my First Lieutenant, whose Exertions both on shore and in the Boats bringing off the Men were conspicuous.

Unfortunately Captain Fane, as I am informed, was at the Mole giving Directions to destroy the Vessels when our Men were withdrawn from the Post on the Hill; he remained there with Firmness to the last, and is among the Missing, but I have received a satisfactory Account that he is well.

I feel, Sir, with unfeigned Grief, that our Loss has been severe, as you will see by the inclosed Return; but had it not been for the Indiscretion of the People straggling from their Post and coming into the Town, contrary to my Caution, the Enemy would not have dared to approach them, and the Loss would have been very inconsiderable, compared with the Importance of the Service performed. The French had entered Catalonia with an Army of Ten Thousand Men with little Means of Subsistence, and as I was ordered to this Coast for the express Purpose of depriving the Enemy of their expected Supplies, I considered that some Energy and Enterprize was necessary to accomplish it; the Force I employed was fully adequate to this Service, and I confided the Execution of it to an Officer of Reputation, I therefore cannot reproach myself, as my Conduct would have been censured if I had not undertaken it, although I must ever deeply regret the severe Loss.

I have, &c.
